To: USDA: Secretary Vilsack
From: Organic Farmers Association

Docket: AMS-NOP-11-0009

Dear Secretary Vilsack,

Organic farmers and organic consumers expect the USDA to guarantee that all organic dairy farms are following the same rules. But years of delay in closing loopholes in the rules for how animals are transitioned into organic have caused ongoing economic harm to organic dairy farms across the country.

We urge you to work as quickly as possible to finalize the proposed rule on Origin of Livestock with a final rule that can be consistently enforced. The final rule must:

- Prohibit the cycling dairy animals in and out of organic production.
- Prohibit the sale or transfer of transitioned animals as organic. A transitioned animal should only be considered organic on the farm it was transitioned on.
- Require oversight by certifiers to make sure that transitioned animals are not transferred or sold to other operations.
- Go into effect immediately. If some operations are in the process of completing organic certification at the time the rule goes into effect, they can transition animals to organic using the allowable one-time transition.

Sincerely,
