

ORGANIC FARMERS ASSOCIATION

Job Opening: Equity Project Manager

ORGANIZATIONAL BACKGROUND

Organic Farmers Association works to provide a strong and unified national voice for domestic certified organic producers. We strive to build and support a farmer-led national organic farmer movement and national policy platform by: developing and advocating policies that benefit organic farmers; strengthening and supporting the capacity of organic farmers and farm organizations; supporting collaboration and leadership among state, regional and national organic farmer organizations; and collaborating with other organic organizations. OFA is farmer led and controlled, making sure that farmers drive the organization's policy positions and provide an authentic voice for organic farmers in Washington, D.C. OFA envisions a future where organic agriculture is the basis of a viable United States food and agricultural policy and production system. Since our founding in 2016, OFA has developed a strong policy platform that captures the policy priorities of organic farmers. Our annual grassroots policy development process keeps our policy work current and focused on what farmers need most.

POSITION OVERVIEW

Organic Farmers Association is seeking an Equity Project Manager to lead a coalition of national organic organizations as they work towards centering racial equity in the organic movement.

This position is grant funded for one-year, with the possibility for contract extension.

The position offers a great opportunity for the right candidate to interact with deeply committed, expert organic organizations and racial equity facilitators and trainers across the United States. The successful candidate will manage the second year of this project - this second year is focused on building shared learning amongst organic professionals, and taking action to create a more inclusive and sustainable community of organic professionals that is better equipped to support a higher diversity of farmers interested in transitioning to organic.

This is a part-time, independent contractor position. OFA's administrative office is in Spirit Lake, Iowa, but this position is fully remote. People of color are strongly encouraged to apply. The Equity Project Manager collaborates closely with the Executive Director.

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

- Coordinate all aspects of the USDA-funded project including monthly progress reports, budget management, monthly steering committee meetings, project goals and deliverables, and final reports.
- Maintain project website with deliverables and manage sharing deliverables for dissemination with project partners.
- Facilitate consistent communication with sub-contractors and ensure timelines and deliverables are met.

- Lead monthly steering committee meetings to keep committee abreast of project development and gather input on future direction.
- Participate in meetings as needed with the USDA National Organic Program.
- Write an article on racial equity and the project for the Organic Voice magazine.
- Manage project events registration and communication to organic organizations.
- Support growing relationships among organic organizations and BIPOC-led farming organizations.
- Keep OFA's Executive Director apprised of project development on a regular basis.
- Other duties as identified by the Steering Committee.
